Lack of pure water may often account for the lack of eggs.

A few fowls well cared for are more profitable than ten times their number neglected.

Wash the perches as often as once a month with kerssans oil and once a month with kerosen oil, and make a thorough job of it while you are at it. Fresh laid eggs are always the heaviest. Stale eggs are often so light that they will float in water.

To carry on the poultry business successfully needs personal supervision of the smallest details.

Lining the inside of the poultry house with old newspapers pasted on will add considerably to the comfort of the fowls.

Turkeys for market should be well fat-ened, carefully dressed and sent to arket in as good a condition as possi-le.

Now is the time to buy your breeding stock for another year. Don't wait un-til spring, as you may not find what you want then. No, Colonel, you cannot lay a railroad cattle reject.

An exchange says that if a few dry cows or helfers are kept in the field with sheep the dogs will seldom molest them. We have found sheep in the morning huddled so closely around and under a friendly old cow that she could not get away from them. She had saved their lives.

The San Francisco Live-Stock Gazette says that Dakots has a sheep craze; the claim is that the climate is the ideal sheep climate. Every farmer is going into sheep. Wheat raising doesn't pay, It will be a happy flop from wheat to wool. Wool will be king of the Missouri slope.

souri slope. A mongrel sire is worse than bad cross-bred ewes make good dams, says the American Agriculturist. That is admitted, but when wool that is the chief consideration the first cross is far chief consideration the first cross is far and away the most valuable one. Australian wool has a world-wide renown. The best fleeces are the results of the union of a clean-bred, short-wool tribe, or vice versa. All further crossing causes a marked deterioration in the fleece. This is not perceptible in fleeks raised for mutton, as the cross-bred twee can, generation after generation be bred to pure blooded rans until the old strain is lost and the flock attains an almost clean standard of pedigree.

most clean standard of pedigree.

Dr. A. G. Caldwell's recent note estimating the value of oat staw at 77 per cent. of that of average meadow hay, and wheat straw at 70 per cent., turnishes just what is needed to answer the question why it is that sheep winter well on straw alone. As straw is usually fed more freely than hay, the animais make up in quantity what it lacks in quality. Besides cheapness, straw has this to recommend it—that hay tends to constipation of the bowels and straw does not. Animals free from constipation do better on the same amount of food than those afflicted with that malady. By noticing the difference in, the consistency of the droppings of straw-fed and hay-fed sheep one can readily tell most clean standard of pedigree. consistency of the droppings of staw-reconding tell that straw keeps the bowels in better condition, and while sheep so led do well it is evident that straw is the preferable sheep fodder. In this way, wintering sheep is reduced to a minimum.—New York Tribune.

A Masterful Baby.

"Baby! McKee is daily proving himself the infant terrible of the Executive Mansion." A distinguished New Yorker, who dined en families at the White-House a few days ago, relates an incident which proves the correctness of this declaration.

The young man, during an interval which followed the serving of the soup, leaned forward in his shigh chair and amused himself by pounding the table so savagely with both first that the wine glasses in his immediate vicinity danced a merry refrain. The noise was so dealening, the New Yorker says, that you could hardly hear, yourself think.

The President, who sat beside "Bennie," laid his hand on the youngster's arm and mildly requested a cessation of the noise. The young man gave the Ohief Magistrate a defant look and proceeded forthwith to outde his previous ceeded forthwith to outdo his previous performance by atraightening up in his chair and laying both heels on the festive board. Calmly and deliberately the terror of the White House lifted first one foot and then the other, bringing them down alternately with the inevitable dull thud on the Presidential manogany. Mean while the family, sat watching the operation with undisguised admiration. Finally the President broke the silence by turning in the direction of his guest and ejaculating: "Isn't he cunning? She how he minds me."

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad is taxed to its utmost capacity here and at Keyser, trying to move the blockade of cars which number nearly 2,000. Today (Sunday) they will borrow eight Cumberland & Pennsylvania, four West-Virginia Central and four Georges' Creek & Cumberland engines, which with their own motive power, will move about 1,500 cars.

$2,500 Reward for a Lost Cat.

The equivalent in English money of $2,500 was once offered by an old lady in London for the return of a favorite cat which had strayed or been stolen. People called her a "crank," and perhaps she was. It is unfortunate that one of the gentlersex should ever gain this title, yet many do. It is, however, frequently not their fault. Often functional derangements will apparently change a woman's entire mature. Don't blame such sufferers if they are "cranky" but tell them to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is an infailible remedy for "female weakness." It will soon restore them to their normal condition. It is warranted to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be refunded.
